DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
Washington, D. C.

19 November 1948

Rear Admiral R. H. Hillenkoetter
Director of Central Intelligence
Central Intelligence Agency

Dear Admiral Hillenkoetter:

The Office of the Army Comptroller is preparing a Code of Army Laws to be submitted to the Second Session of the 81st Congress, for enactment into law. It is to include all relevant statutes in effect on the date of submission.

The work is non-controversial, and will merely restate more simply the law already in effect. The Judiciary Committees of both houses of Congress are encouraging the project.

The attached Proposed Analysis for Revision illustrates the proposed outline arrangement of the Code.

It will be noted that material is grouped into four basic Parts, entitled: "Organization," "Personnel," "Intelligence, Operations and Training," and "Service, Supply and Procurement." While this proposed arrangement is tentative, it presents a number of advantages over classification schemes followed in existing laws and compilations. Handling of material of exclusive interest to the Air Force is entirely provisional, pending direct participation in the codification by that Service, which is now scheduled.

Additional copies may be had upon informal request to the Office of the Army Comptroller (Attn: Management Division, Statutory Revision Group), Room 4B 882, The Pentagon, telephone extension 75029. Comments, suggestions or corrections may be similarly directed and will be welcomed.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed)

Kenneth C. Royall
Secretary of the Army
